 - 5.30pm Departure
- Days missed may have to be made up, by arrangement with the Tutor.
- You will be required to regularly attend a weekly yoga class to continue to develop in your own personal practice.
- You will be expected to develop your own home practice at various points within the course, these will especially relate to the practice of asana, mindfulness training and breathing techniques.
- There will need to be time set aside for reading, reflection, writing assignments, and preparing for teaching practices and class discussions. This time is variable, but a rough estimation would be around two to three hours per week.
- There will be time spent preparing for and teaching your own class, whether you decide to establish your own regular class, provide cover for other teachers or simply fulfill the 15 hours of recorded teaching necessary for the qualification.
- You will be encouraged to attend seminars, in-service training days, retreats, etc.
